About Program:

Progress Evaluation for Summer Internship Program 2025

As part of the Summer Internship Program 2025, a two-stage progress evaluation was conducted to assess the preparedness and suitability of participating students. The online evaluation took place on June 3rd, 2025, providing an initial screening of student proposals, skills, and project interests. This was followed by an offline evaluation on June 14th, 2025, where students presented their ideas, progress, and understanding of the internship objectives in person.

These evaluations aimed to ensure a fair and transparent selection process for both internship tracks — internships under incubated startups, and internships focused on idea validation or problem statements — while also giving students valuable feedback to strengthen their skills and readiness for industry-linked learning opportunities.

About Program:

The second online evaluation for the Summer Internship Program 2025 was held on June 21st, 2025. This evaluation aimed to assess the interns' progress since their previous reviews and to gauge how effectively they had refined their ideas and solutions.

During the session, interns presented updates on their projects, demonstrating how they approached problem statements provided by Techwalnut Innovations LLP and sharing their progress on solution development. Evaluators reviewed these presentations, provided constructive feedback, and guided the interns on strengthening their technical approaches, market validation, and scalability potential.

This stage ensured that interns stayed on track with their objectives while equipping them with actionable insights for further improvement before moving ahead in the program.
